TO THE AFFLICTED!

HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE FOR THE CURE OF CHRONIC DISEASES.—The most safe and certain remedy ever known to the world for various chronic diseases, after they have reached a state, and assumed a character, hitherto considered desperate and incurable.

Chronic Rheumatism, Scrofula, Kings Evil, attended with swellings and ulcers, sore eyes, and loss of sight, to a frightful extent, have been cured. Females pining away by reason of deranged secretions, broken calculations, and obstructed menses, (monthly courses) even when attended by spasms or fits, have been readily relieved.

Dyspepsia yields without a struggle to its mild yet powerful action upon the stomach. In Catarrh, or Cough, Rheumatism, and Fistula, it never fails to cure, as we have fully proved. All diseases having their origin in an impure state of the blood and fluids, will be speedily and effectually removed by this invaluable medicine.

This tincture tends directly to excite a healthy action in the stomach, liver, lungs, and kidneys, to purify the blood and other fluids, by expelling every particle of morbid matter from the system, and therefore never fails to prove a valuable remedy for the diseases which calomel has been invariably used. Old sores and ulcers, or any chronic affection; and for the calomel disease, it is an infallible remedy.

This remedy is perfectly vegetable, mild, agreeable, and safe for persons of any age, either sex, or any condition, acknowledged by those who have tried it, to be the best known family medicine.

The justly celebrated tincture creates a craving appetite, and the patient is left at liberty to indulge in the use of this medicine will change the complexion from a pallid to a fine blooming one. After using this tincture for six weeks, a person of any age may eat anything that a child of ten years of age, in full health, could eat, without the least inconvenience.

Dr. Hampton is in possession of certificates from the Hon. Henry Clay, Col. Richard M. Johnson, Hon. John B. Dawson, of La., and many others, who have been benefited by the use of this tincture.

For certificates, &c., see pamphlet.
REMEMBER! Hampton's Vegetable Tincture can be had only at the Segar Store of

H. G. RITTER,
Pennsylvania avenue, between 11th and 12th streets, and at
A. G. GARDNER'S
Seed Store, F street, between 9th and 10th streets, opposite the Catholic church.

Each bottle has the proprietor's signature on the label. may 8-6m

THE TRUTH SOMETIMES NOT FOUND OUT UNTIL TOO LATE.

SUCH is often the case in regard to persons taking medicine. They are induced by plausible reasoning, false representation and doctrines, to employ medicines that, so far from being adapted to their disease or sickness, absolutely increase the symptoms, destroy the constitution, rack the whole system, and bring on a gradual decline, terminating in death; previous to the fatal termination, however, (but unfortunately too late,) the truth is found out that the pills, mixtures, &c. they have been taking were composed of the most powerful and dangerous ingredients, prepared too by persons knowing nothing of disease or the nature of the medicines they recommended, depending altogether upon the "general doctrine of such impostors," that their medicines will "kill or cure." Be advised, then, if you find it necessary to take some medicine for purifying the blood and cleansing the bowels, to take nothing but Dr. Leidy's justly and deservedly celebrated Sarsaparilla BLOOD PILLS, the only pills containing Sarsaparilla in their composition—the safest and best as well as the most effectual that can be taken.

Old and young, at all times, without regard to weather, may take them without fear of taking cold, and without restraint from occupation or usual course of living. Upwards of 1,000 certificates have been published, various times, of their efficacy. More than 100,000 boxes have been sold in Philadelphia in twelve months. These facts go to prove their value, or so many never would be sold in so short a time, in a place where they are manufactured; this, however, arises in part from the fact that the manufacturer of them (Dr. Leidy) is well known at home as a regular physician and apothecary, knowing the true nature of diseases and of the medicines he recommends, attested by the most celebrated physicians, among whom are Dr. Nathaniel Chapman, Dr. Wm. Gibson, Dr. W. E. Horner, Dr. Samuel Jackson, Dr. Robert Hare, Dr. P. S. Physio, Dr. T. C. James, Dr. W. P. Dewees, Dr. J. Redman Cox, Rev. W. H. Delaney, Robert Adrian, L.L.D., &c. &c.

Orders for Dr. Leidy's BLOOD PILLS are daily received from the North, South, East, and West, and the most flattering accounts, from every direction, of their unparalleled success. A single box (25 cents) may save as many dollars, if taken in time, instead of the dangerous medicines now forced on the public, and by taking which persons so often find it necessary at last to take Dr. Leidy's Blood Pills, to counteract their injurious consequences.

They are prepared only, and sold Wholesale and Retail, at Dr. Leidy's Health Emporium, No. 191, North Second street, below Vine street, Philadelphia.

CLAY AND FRELINGHUYSEN.

TUNE—"Blair and I called on our Fan."

We've heard the news from Baltimore,
And what the Whigs have done;
We'll back that nomination up,
Of old Kentucky's son.
Then Matty, clear, and Calhoun, too,
The Whigs are now all rising;
They'll go it strong for Henry Clay,
For Clay and Frelinghuysen.

That same old coon has come again,
He looks as good as new;
We'll put him through by daylight, boys,
In place of "Tyler too."
That Matty's tree'd this time, my boys,
Is not at all surprising;
He ne'er can run upon the track
'Gainst Clay and Frelinghuysen.

Should Mat be dropped, and Calhoun run
Against our nomination,
We'll teach him, too, that good sound Whigs
Can keep him in his station.
Nought can be said 'gainst those we've named
In papers they print lies in,
About such glorious honest Whigs,
As Clay and Frelinghuysen.

The office-holders make great noise
For Tyler and for Texas;
But nought that John or Bob can do,
In any way can vex us.
For Johnny turned his coat so oft
He never can get twice in;
And "Old Virginia" headed him
With Clay and Frelinghuysen.

Now Mat Van Buren stands no chance,
And Calhoun stands no better,
Nor Tyler, with his traitor lance,
Nor Benton's Texan letter.
That New York fox can not come in,
Nor that Missouri bison,
That same old coon is sure to win
With Clay and Frelinghuysen.

AN ALLEGORY.

BY MISS SARAH E. LOWELL.

Man was fallen; no more was he an inhabitant of those Elysian fields; no more for him did the sweet birds carol forth their morning lays of love and gladness; no more for him did the beautiful flowers bloom in celestial beauty, and scatter so profusely their aromatic sweetness on the murmuring zephyrs. Amidst all the beautiful and harmonious arrangements of Nature; amidst the wonderfully magnificent and complicated machinery of Heaven, he beheld the language of a dark and uncertain future, written in indelible characters. This was indeed a picture of perfect despair.

"And must he thus perish?" exclaimed Pity; "is there none of all this 'Host of Seraphs bright,' none willing to leave this happy, heavenly home, on this errand of love and mercy, and become an inhabitant of your dark world; scatter the dark cloud so long resting on his brow; perform the delightful task of cherishing, soothing, and directing his thoughts upward?" "Tis but just!" said Justice, and the roaring thunder re-echoed the stern reply to the distant Earth. But Mercy interposed.

"Was he not created in the image of God?—Was not the impress of the Deity stamped on his noble brow? Was he not intended as a resident of heaven, and a recipient of its joys? Stay! O stay, the dread arrows of thy wrath!" Justice was silent. The beautiful spirit, Hope, approached, and kneeling, she asked one boon. The stern brow of the Judge relaxed, as he bade her name it. "Tis this: let me go far hence to yonder wheeling orb, encircled by midnight darkness; there let me spend my hours, months, and even years, in endeavoring to convert the darkness into light. Let me but try, and if all my plans are unsuccessful, I will return." 'Tis granted, on one condition, and the stern brow of Justice again darkened, 'that in once becoming an inhabitant of Earth, you forever dwell there.'

Hope bade adieu to all, and took her flight to Earth. There she commenced her labors of love. Under her tender care, every object soon began to wear a different aspect. She was the constant companion of Religion, and joined hand in hand, they wandered through Earth's remotest bounds. They cheered the dying, by pointing to the haven of rest; and when the pure spirit was loosed from its tabernacle of clay, Hope bore it on her wings to the gate of Paradise. To the mourner, she extended her hand, and speaking words of heavenly wisdom, bade her prepare to meet the lost ones there. Hope also mingled in the more minute transactions of life, and all felt that great indeed was the change she had wrought.

At last, as a reward for her generous and persevering self-sacrifice, Justice revoked his mandate, and she was again permitted the privilege of dwelling in Heaven. But she preferred to remain on Earth, to smooth the rough path of life, and when the last remaining mortal shall have passed from Earth, then will Hope ascend to those bright regions from whence she came.

ENVY.—Envy may justly be defined to be that hatred that one person hath for another from some supposed or real advantage over them. Ignorance fortifies this vice, and knowledge destroys it; because knowledge teaches us the doctrine of necessity, that things must be as they are, and, therefore, we discover the folly of being envious, because to be envious of the inevitable destiny of another is to repine at our fate, which could not have been otherwise; consequently, there could have been no remedy, and this envious feeling can only be the result of the greatest ignorance. Therefore, knowledge suppresseth envy. Indeed, a man might as well be en-vicious of the swiftness of a horse, the strength of an elephant, or the wings of the bird, as to be envious of the destinies of another man, which have come down through all eternity in the stream of successive causes, all things being of necessity and beyond our control.

COMPENSATION FOR CRIME AMONGST THE AFFGHANS.—Criminal offences among the Affghans are generally tried before a Jeerga, an assembly of khans, elders, and priests. In serious cases, a number of young women are given in marriage from the family of the criminal to the person aggrieved and his relations. In cases of murder, six of them are given with portions, and six without; six, also, are the penalty for cutting off a hand, an ear, or a nose; and three for breaking a tooth. In this manner, the wealthy and well-connected offender enjoys an immunity from punishment, but wo to the criminal who has no women and no dowries with which to buy off the consequences of his offence.—History of the War in Affghanistan.

A CONTRAST.—What queen or princess, we should like to know, has lavished necklace, or bracelet, or one poor pitiful brooch on Miss Edgeworth or Miss Aitken, Miss Somerville or Joanna Baillie, or any other female illustrations of the age, saving these aerial machines which have achieved such enviable supremacy? Mrs. Marcet, who has taught the young idea of our three kingdoms how to shoot; Miss Martineau, who has engrained new ones on our oldest crab-stocks, might travel from Dan to Beersheba without having a fatted calf or a fatted capon killed for them at the public expense. But, let Taglioni take the road, and what clapping of hands, what gratulation, what curiosity, what expansion of light.—Blackwood.

REAL AND IDEAL.—Dow, jr., in one of his discourses, in which he describes the contrast between semblance and reality, hits off a ball scene: "A woman," says he, "may not be an angel, though she glides through the mazes of the dance, like a spirit clothed with a rainbow, and studded with stars. The young man may behold his admired object on the morrow in the true light of reality, perchance emptying a washbasin in the gutter, with frock pinned up behind—cheeks pale for want of paint—her hair matted and mossy except what lies in the bureau; and her whole contour wearing the appearance of an angel rammed through a brush fence into a world of wretchedness and wo!"
